Brightworks School in San Francisco is Hiring World Class Educators

Position: Elementary Collaborator (aka teacher)

Brightworks is a school that says, “Yes!” You want to send a GoPro to the stratosphere in a weather balloon? Let’s do it! You want to build a sail car and go on a journey down an abandoned railway? Sure thing! You want to make a documentary about housing issues in the city? Alright, let’s figure it out together! We trust that children are instinctual learners, and we value partnering with them on their educational path. That is why we call our teachers “Collaborators”. To be here is to work side by side lovingly and in full support of the children who populate this place with their dreams, attempts and ideas. We ask Collaborators to think big, improvise, and learn alongside students. By taking the best practices from early childhood education and emergent, project-based experiential learning, we strive to meet students' needs in a flexible, mixed-age environment that breaks the traditional walls between school and the community outside the classroom. Brightworks has been at the cutting edge of learner-driven education since its founding in 2011 and we continue to push the envelope of what is possible in education. Brightworks is in its thirteenth year and currently consists of ~110 students ages 5-18.

About the Position

Brightworks is seeking experienced candidates for the teaching position of Elementary Collaborator, for the 2023/2024 school year. Collaborators are responsible for co-creating project based curriculum with their 10-12 students with the support of their teaching team. Collaborators also create accountability structures for their students' independent projects and studies. Collaborators regularly document their group’s explorations, send weekly communications to parents and help students compile portfolios for their student-led assessment as well as writing their own assessments of the students. Collaborators have a commitment to professional growth and a strong spirit of mutual aid and support. Collaborators engage in deep power and privilege work and have a commitment to creating an learning environment that is anti-racist, gender inclusive and overwhelmingly welcoming to students of all backgrounds and orientations.

Compensation and Benefits

Placement on our salary scale will be based on qualifications and experience. Our scale ranges from $69,132 - $100,000. Excellent benefits offered including medical, dental, vision, life and disability insurance and a retirement plan with a 4% match vesting immediately.

Candidate Requirements

We are seeking candidates for the position of Collaborator (AKA Teacher):

- You have experience working with elementary age students. You have a deep understanding of progressive, inquiry based education. You have the experience of or a desire to teach in a setting that honors the competence and independence of children.

- You are a creative curriculum designer. You leverage student interests, real world problems and professional tools/experts to design engaging interdisciplinary projects that drive student learning.
- You are committed to social justice and equity. You see opportunities all around you to leverage conversations about identity and actively seek to create equitable learning spaces.
- You are an excellent communicator. You communicate effectively with students, parents and coworkers. You actively listen and ask probing questions. You can communicate clearly through writing the story of your student's learning journey. You know how to be candid and kind at the same time.
